BRUTAL SLAYINGS OF FLEAGLE GANG CONFESSED

HURRICANE MOVING NORTH

PENSACOLA, Sept. 30.—UP.—Crossing the coast line 12 miles east of Pensacola the West Indian hurricane Monday night moved due north, headed in the direction of Birmingham, according to reports of the U. S. weather bureau at Mobile.

Pensacola meteorologists estimated the storm had turned slightly northwest.

Meanwhile Pensacola, last known storm victim, reported only superficial damage and not a single casualty. The city pushed against an 80 mile an hour wind as late as nine p. m. to night. The city enjoyed all of the excitement of a typical hurricane, but suffered few bad effects.

At the height of the storm at three o'clock roofs of cheap buildings and trees, some large, could be seen carried along in the gale, but a hasty survey of the city showed little damage.

But the heartening reports included only the city proper. The center of the storm moved about 15 miles east of the city, and grave alarm was expressed for the safety of residents in remote parts of the suburban area.

All communications within the storm area were shattered. No report was available from eastern Florida since the passage of the storm.

The little town of Milton, only 21 miles from Pensacola, still was silent six hours after the storm.

Beach Avenue To Be Closed

Upon the recommendation of the planning commission, the city council last night granted the petition of the Stauffer Chemical works for the closing of a portion of Beach avenue.

The necessary proceedings to carry out the petition will be started immediately.

The property on both sides of the street is owned by the chemical company.

Passion Play Permit Denied

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—UP.—Recognizing the protests of 20 Jewish organizations, a committee of the county supervisors refused to grant a permit for presentation of the Freiburg Passion Play in the municipal auditorium here today.

CONTRACTORS LICENSE LAW TO BE STUDIED BY COUNCIL

The session of the Richmond city council opened promptly at 8 o'clock last night. Business was transacted, and the session ended just ten minutes later, when an adjournment was taken and a conference with the contractors was held.

The matter of a license for contractors was discussed, and an understanding was reached, that an ordinance will be prepared and submitted to the council for consideration next Monday night.

The proposed measure will likely contain a provision for a license of $100 a year.

Attorney T. N. Calfee appeared for the contractors, and maintained that a license ordinance would do away with the fly-by-night contractors, and would reduce building costs, as it would do away with excessive losses by the material men, which would lessen overhead.

Building Inspector A. J. Hurley said he thought the proposed ordinance would be of benefit, as similar ordinances in other cities had worked out successfully.

It was brought out during the discussion that there is much opposition in the city to the proposed measure on the ground that it would increase the cost of building.

Councilman R. J. Meyer did not think building cost would be increased, but he believed the proposed ordinance would mean better buildings for the people of the city.

STATE LAUDED BY BANKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—UP.—Branch banking and legislation received foremost attention at the opening session of the American Bankers' association here today.

The feature of the day occurred during a meeting of the National bank division and attention centered around speeches by Edgar H. Sensenich, president of that section, and Craig B. Hazelwood, president of the association.

"The National bank system has been of tremendous value since the war but now is falling off," Hazelwood said. "Before we make any wild throws in banking methods we should handle the problem as a physical ill and should have a careful diagnosis made by experts before any radical changes are consummated. Any steps looking toward group banking should be carefully considered before they are adopted."

Sensenich agreed that the big issue before the convention is large scale banking.

"Group banking," he said, "is merely a makeshift until proper legislation can be effected to provide for branch banking. Against the stiffest kind of opposition from certain quarters branch banking has made great strides."

He pointed out that many of the banks are leaving the national system and national charters are being abandoned. He said the banking needs while State legislatures on the whole have been more alive to the situation and are willing to make necessary changes.

Remarks on branch banking were also made by John W. Pole, comptroller of the currency.

BANDITS GO ON TRIAL TODAY

DENVER, Sept. 30 (U.P.)—Details of the brutal murders that followed the robbery of the bank of Lamar in May, 1928, were made public in confessions by Howard L. Royston, Ralph Fleagle and George J. Abshier, printed in the Denver Post today. The men will go on trial at Lamar Tuesday for the murder of A. N. Parrish, bank president and his son John, Gray-haired Ralph Fleagle, alias Ralph Howard of Richmond, Calif., shot down E. A. Kessinger, a teller the bandit had kidnapped, the confessions disclosed. At the time, Kessinger, expecting to be released, was standing blindfolded in a shack near Garden City. After the teller fell, Ralph Fleagle pumped bullets into the wounded man's body the confession said.

Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Digton, Kan., was shot to death from behind as he stood on a highway in the Garden City neighborhood. Jake Fleagle, head of the gang and now sought for the Rodeo, Calif. bank robbery of last week, killed the physician after Dr. Wineinger had treated the wound of Howard L. Royston, a third member of the gang.

The confessions did not disclose who killed A. N. Parrish and John Parrish who lost their lives in a revolver fight in the bank during the robbery.

The "Torch Slayer" for the Y campaign, conducted by the Richmond Y. M. C. A., officially closed last night with a total of $4627. The budget set as necessary for the year's work is placed at $8500. He said that each is making a film which will not permit their honeymoon until after Nov. 15, and that "we'll go to Europe then instead of now, as we had planned."

Auto Wrecker Given License

September Building Amounts To $15,875

Three building permits were issued yesterday in the office of A. J. Hurley, city building inspector, to bring the total for the month of September to $15,875.

September building was divided as follows: Two new homes costing $6,400; one business building costing $2500; 23 repairs and alterations amounting to $5,775, and 12 garages and outbuildings totaling $1200.

The permits issued yesterday work will cost $100.

J. E. George to build a two-car garage on Belvedere avenue at the corner of Short street, at a cost of $150.

A. C. Bowman, to construct a two-car garage on Fifteenth street between Bissell and Chanslor avenues costing $200.

A one-room sun porch addition will be built by C. E. Mintzer, on Second street between Barrett and Ripley avenues. The work will cost $100.

The man and wife quarreled casually for a time over the hand, other players told police, then became bitter. Bennett slapped his wife who rose from the table white with anger.

The husband started to pack his bag, saying he would leave. He had reached the door, Hoffman said, when Mrs. Bennett appeared with a revolver and fired four shots at him. Bennett staggered to a chair, seated himself, then rolled to the floor dead.

Fire Hydrant At Water Front Asked

A fire hydrant has been ordered installed at the corner of Thirtieth street and Macdonald avenue.

At the meeting of the city council last night the petition for a fire hydrant at Third street and Cutting boulevard was also considered.

City Manager J. A. McVittie stated that 1100 feet of main would have to be installed, and the cost would be about $2500.

It is believed proper fire protection can be given the industry in that section by pumping the water from the channel.

Fire Chief W. P. Cooper said an approach to the channel could be built at a small cost that would give as good protection from fire as would a hydrant.

Russ Plane To Hop For U. S. Thursday

SITKA, Alaska, Sept. 30.—UP.—Mechanics went over the Russian amphibian monoplane "Land of Soviets" here today and pronounced it in readiness for departure to Seattle Tuesday.

The craft's crew of four Russians was resting from their strenuous flight here from Seward and was anticipating one of the greatest receptions of their long flight from Moscow to New York when they reach the United States.

They required three hours more than had been expected to reach here from Seward. Once the signals of their radio were mistaken for a distress call and they caused anxiety for several hours.

"The Land of Soviets" was expected to take off from the water here shortly after daybreak and the flight to Seattle should require a little more than seven hours. Then it is proposed to continue to New York by way of San Francisco and Chicago. The pontoons will be replaced by wheels at Seattle.

Martin Property Released By U. S.

Federal Judge Harold Louderback of San Francisco yesterday set aside a federal judgment against J. W. Martin of more than $1400 foreclosure on a bond given in a criminal case. Martin will now be able to reopen his store at 231 Macdonald avenue and will recover funds in the bank which have been attached by the government.

Martin gave the bond to cover the appearance in court of Frank Starkey several years ago, and while the charge was later dismissed, the bond was not cancelled, and foreclosure was later obtained without the knowledge of Martin.

Martin, who is a pioneer resident of Richmond, was represented by Attorney Charles Brennan of San Francisco. Martin will have to pay court costs which will amount to about $175.

YOUTH TAKEN IN $9000 HOLDUP

Contra Costa authorities yesterday started an investigation in an effort to determine whether or not Adam Dacosta, 23, of Twentieth street and San Pablo avenue, Oakland, is one of the men wanted in the robbery of Rodeo bank in which Constable Arthur McDonald was shot.

Dacosta is said to answer to descriptions of the Rodeo bank bandit. A long flesh wound was found on his arm. One of the bandits in the Rodeo holdup was shot in the left arm.

Dacosta has confessed to participation in the robbery of the American Trust company bank at Seventy-ninth avenue, Oakland yesterday morning, in which $9,000 was taken. Two companions of the arrested man are being sought.

It was blind chance that brought Dacosta into the arms of Police Inspectors Thomas Woods and Eugene Murphy a few hours after the bank had been robbed.

The robbery, police declare, was one of the most ingenious and precisely executed in recent crime history. Tunneling their way into the bank, ambushing bank employees, fleeing in the employees automobiles, the bandits made a clean get away, with the exception of Dacosta.

WHITE GHOST GETS SPEEDER

MARTINEZ, Sept. 30.—UP.—C. Thompson, of Pittsburg, has the privilege of being the first speeder victim of the state's new white cars. Thompson was cruising along at 65 miles per hour, and passing a white car on the road, thought nothing of it. He thought a lot about it, however, when it pulled up alongside him, and he was commanded to pull over by F. A. Leber, district inspector and George A. Belon, captain of the Contra Costa squad.

"I forgot all about these new white cars being piloted by traffic cops," Thompson told Belon, "but I'll sure remember it from now on."

Thompson was cited to appear before Justice Frank L. Glass here.

Woman Hurt By Hitrun Driver

MARTINEZ, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Alton Renaldi received three broken ribs, and her husband was badly shaken up, when the car in which they were riding was hit and overturned by another car on the Pittsburg-Bay Point road yesterday.

After the collision, the other car did not stop but sped away and was pursued by Deputy Sheriff J. Gomez, Jr., who arrived on the scene shortly after the accident. The pursuit was to no avail and Gomez gave up the chase, reporting the matter to the sheriff's office here.

Council Adopts New Ordinances

One relative to the changing of the name of a portion of Amador street to Zara avenue.

The second ordinance regulates the moving of houses in the city limits.

STENOGRAPHERS ARE HUMAN!

GIRLS, all of you downtown girls with notebooks and typewriters—have you heard that you've been vindicated?

You really are human, after all! The Judge of a high court in Vienna has said it.

And, as W. S. Gilbert would allow, 'tis greatly to his credit.

To be explicit, the Hofrat Maschka has ruled that stenographers cannot be called sub-human creatures. That they must be reinstated in the category of human beings.

Instead of being relegated to the class of machines. As was done two months ago by another Vienna magistrate in a libel case.

"A stenographer," said this lordly gentleman, "is merely a typewriter."

"Wherever a communication is written."

Do you wonder that the embattled business girls of Vienna never rested?

Until this ridiculous ruling was reversed?

It doesn't seem possible that any New York Judge could ever make it.

And yet—and yet—the fancy many stenographers will agree that there are plenty of men in New York who need now and then to be reminded.

That stenographers are human!

For example, there is the man who takes out on his stenographer.

The morning grump which he doesn't dare take out on his wife.

Since, if she gets sore, he can't very well fire her.

But must put up with her none too pleasant methods of retaliation.

There is the man who, when his boss gives him a caldron.

Passes it along to the stenographer, there not being any other dog for him to kick.

There is the man who, with no head for detail.

Expects his stenographer to function with the mechanical smoothness.

Of a cash register or an electric meter—forgetting that she can have occasional headaches and absent-minded lapses and private worries.

No matter how efficient she may be most of the time.

There is the man who expects his stenographer to be not merely a card catalogue, a memory system and an index expurgator of the person he doesn't want to see.

But also a mind reader, knowing what he wants to do.

There is the man who passes the buck to his stenographer.

Whenever he makes a mistake or forgets an appointment.

There is the man who believes he can pay his stenographer $25 a week.

And that she can dress to look as if he paid her $50.

There is the man who bullies his stenographer.

The man who hoots her with details of his meals and his bill.

The man who plays for her sympathy in his domestic situation.

The man who, in short, thinks of her as an office device.

To serve his personal as well as his business convenience.

And who forgets that she is just a human young woman.

With a family, and probably either in love or hoping to be.

Doing—on the whole, efficiently—a job out of which she gets no particular kick.

Because she has to support herself.

And, often, because she has to help support others.

Yes, stenographers are human—And it's about time some New York employers, as well as the Vienna courts, found it out!

AFTERMATH

Have dwindled into nothingness, and laid themselves in rotting dust about our feet.

How to Clean The Rugs

IN ROOMS constantly used the rug requires frequent cleaning. They should be brushed or cleaned with a carpet sweeper every day or two and the vacuum cleaner should be applied once a week.

Even with this regular care, however, it is necessary to scrub them when badly soiled. When doing this only a section of the rug should be scrubbed or sponged with a thick suds of mild soap and water and it should be thoroughly rinsed before cleaning the next section and the water should be changed when it becomes discolored. Use a new brush that is not too coarse and do not scrub in a circular motion.

This method may cause the rug to shrink or the colors to run, so it is advisable to be cautious. To be successful the rug must be quickly dried, which is somewhat difficult with thick-piled rugs. As moisture left at the bottom of the pile is apt to rot the threads, heavy rugs should be cleaned with great caution. Professional cleaners have special equipments for this work, so this danger is eliminated when sending rugs out to be cleaned.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alford Smith

IF THERE is one class of people to whom I bow in reverence, it is those women who run what is commonly called "boarding houses."

It is seldom we hear the praises of these sympathic creatures, and I am glad to say a word in their favor.

I was talking to one of them recently and she told me how she had come to the first of the month and was still "shy" $100 in her rent. Instead of worrying about it, she did something—she asked two of her roomers for their rent in advance and she got it.

The moral of this little tale is this—instead of worrying about a disturbance—DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

A Laundry Hint

IF you ever use a plunger for washing those few places that you prefer to do at home?

The plunger is of metal and all you have to do is push it up and down in the tub or pail containing the clothes.

Even regular washings can be done with one of these plungers and with less labor than the washboard entails. It is a most satisfactory utensil for thoroughly washing blankets, curtains, etc. In fact, it is a handy article that simplifies all washings.

The Housewife's Scrapbook

Mash berries for a sauce to serve over pudding and other desserts. Strawberry or raspberry sauce is delicious with moulded farina or hominy.

Always slip fine china and glass into the dishwasher sideways to prevent cracking—a Turkish towel in the bottom of dishpan is a further precaution against accidental breakage.

Use the Vegetable Stock

When cooking vegetable meals use the vegetable stock for soup or stew and if it must be used add a little meat extract—it is an excellent product of this class on the market.

Poverty

In Africa

At least 1,000,000 white people in the Union of South Africa are living below the poverty line. In the towns poverty among the whites does not intrude itself, but in the barren backland a great mass of the population is eking out a pitiful existence. The problem of white poverty in a country where the black man outnumbered the white by nearly seven to one, is one of the most serious which face the South African Government. The British United Press, in a message from Cape Town. Revelations of the life of the poorest class of whites have been made by Dr. Malherbe, who has served as a member of the Research Committee to the British Association, and has examined about 5,000 children in fifty schools. In one of the schools not one child, even in the highest classes, could find South Africa on the map. He gave many instances of the almost incredible ignorance which prevails in many of the schools outside the big South African towns. Most of the poor whites are Dutch-speaking and none of them has received any education beyond form six in the local schools. Dr. Malherbe declared that the white man was resorting to measures which would jeopardize the whole of South Africa's economic future and that of the white man in particular. "Such measures as are proposed," he said, "will in time rob the dominating race of the virility bred from the buffeting of stern competition and will render it soft and weak when the nemesis comes. History has shown that nature selects the fittest, privileged class of any country for destruction."

Man and His Clothes

It is ridiculous how much clothes affect the state of mind, remarks a writer in a London paper. As we clip ourselves "tight and clean" with the close white waistcoat, and don the buckler of boiled and shining linen, we put on with them polite urbanity as another garment. In grey flannels we become a little rustic; but the small of tweed, its loose folds, and we are primitive men once more, looking for something to kill or hit, if it is only a little white ball. There is something to this convention that follows a national appropriateness. To the Englishman, France has no country life as we know it. And the reason is largely this—that the French country gentleman will wear black clothes on his estate as if he were in Paris, and lives in a chateau looking like a town house. So his atmosphere is not changed in going to the country, and he loses some of the variety the English owe to sartorial convention. And they accept these conventions with a thankful and a humble heart, remembering that Aristotle was a fox, that Shakespeare had strong views on dress, and not forgetting Lord Palmerston's gay apparel, and Disraeli with his little golden chains.

Highlighting the Modest Violet

FOR the hundreds who hide their talents under a bushel there are thousands who hide their beauty.

Women who see only their own defects and cry, "Oh, what's the use?"

Women whose parents or husbands take them down every now and then, lest they become vain and conceited. And women who think they are too old to be attractive. But, above all, women who are make-up shy.

There is nothing quite like a whisper of rouge to set lights dancing in the eyes, nor nothing quite so magical in its effect upon the whole person as a coat of becoming face powder. As for lipstick, when artfully applied, it defines in lovely terms the entire face. It can even, as we have pointed out here many times before, alter to advantage the contours of the mouth and so improve the facial expression greatly.

Once there was a shy-violet girl whom nobody in town ever noticed. She was the sort of person people forget or at least have difficulty in describing, for she was pale of face and eyes and eyelashes, eyebrows and hair and lips—a kind of sad little phantom.

And then one day she was asked to take part in an amateur play—she being the only person available at the time—and lo and behold she blossomed into a beauty and a belle overnight!

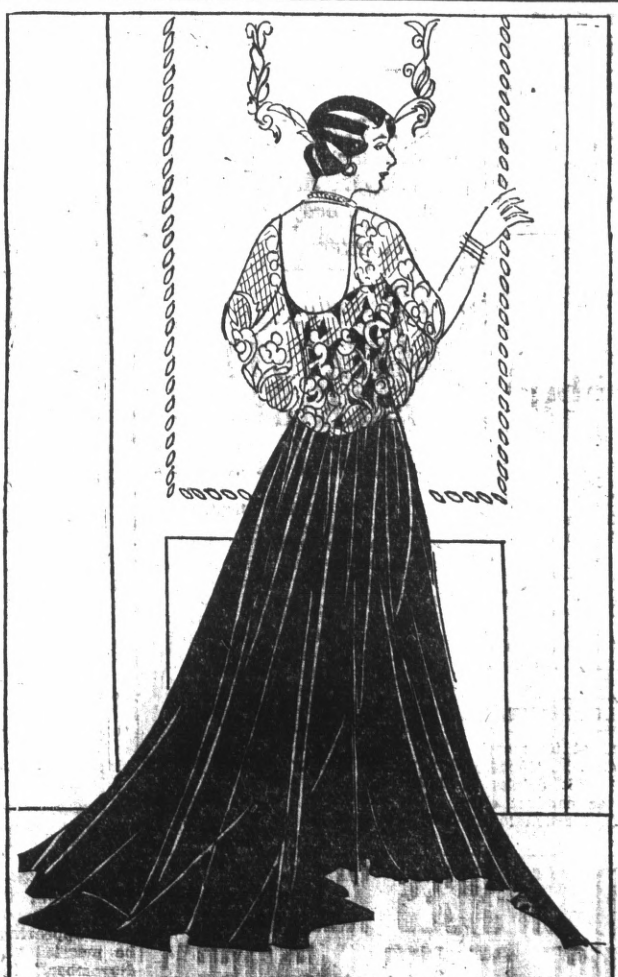

A touch of mascara to her eyelashes gave her eyes, where before had seemed to be a pair of watery depressions. A stroke or two of brown pencil to her brows, and behold she realized for the first time that they were slender and beautifully arched brows. Touched with the sorcery of a lipstick, her mouth became an adorable cupid's bow. The right tone of powder and the right touch of rouge lifted her skin from the average and the commonplace into the distinctive and the dazzling.

But perhaps the most precious thing that make-up did for this little brown wren of a girl was to give her a new interest in herself. She began to realize that she was quite good to look at, where before she had looked upon herself as almost hopeless. And with that realization came animation and poise, those two most essential requisites to charm.

We do not feel the need for cautioning little brown wrens against overdoing their make-up, because their natural tendency is to use too little rather than too much, and a good thing too, for that is the first law of face decoration for novices.

BETTER AND DEEZIER BANKS

BANKS are merging so suddenly they are practically eloping with each other. You deposit your cash in the Eureka Trust Company this afternoon and wake up to-morrow to discover it has become the Merchants and Drovers' Safe Deposit and National Bank. If you leave your money on deposit for thirty days, it takes a genealogist to discover what institution it's nestling in now. A bank that hasn't merged in the last three months is regarded as a wall flower.

Every meeting of a bank directors has the same words and music these days.

CHAIRMAN—Gentlemen, as you know, we absorbed the Casaba Trust Company and the Eureka National Bank this morning. Hereafter the name of our institution will be the National State County City Safe Deposit and Trust Company. We are lengthening our checks to nineteen inches to contain the corporate name.

DIRECTOR—Good work, Mr. Chairman. How many branch banks does that give us?

CHAIRMAN—The statistical department now has eight adding machines working on that question. Offhand, Mr. Gidney, I cannot tell you. But I do know this: We have got so many branch banks on prominent street corners that we have pushed most of the United cigar stores into the middle of the block.

DIRECTOR—That's what I call progress.

CHAIRMAN—Yes, indeed. In fact, our banking branches occupy so many corners they are a danger to a famine in orange juice this fall.

ANOTHER DIRECTOR—It's another indication of the country's progress, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN—I should say it is! Why, do you realize that two years ago when a stick-up man pulled a job in a corner store, he only averaged $50 or $60 haul? To-day, thanks to mergers which have increased our chain, a gunman can go into a corner branch bank and grab $10,000 to $15,000 in new bills. That's an increase of 3,000 per cent, or more.

DIRECTOR—How big does this latest merger make us?

CHAIRMAN—I don't know the exact figures, but we positively have more assets and income in our combined resources than any institution. Roughly, I should say it was $3,500,000,000 or maybe it's $1,500,000,000. What's a billion dollars among friends?

DIRECTOR—You said it, Horace. And don't forget the National State County City Safe Deposit and Trust Company has the biggest overdraft department in town by $2,000,000.

CHAIRMAN—Yes, Charley, this is correct. Not only do we boast the biggest overdraft department in town, but as a result of this latest merger the National State County City Safe Deposit and Trust Company has more miles of barred cages than Sing Sing and Auburn Prisons combined.

We punch more holes in cancelled checks each day than were made by all the machine guns in the entire World War and we require upward of 21,000 square feet of brass nameplates for our Vice Presidents alone.

DIRECTOR—By the way, how many Vice Presidents does this latest merger give us?

CHAIRMAN—We are having a census taken now. Roughly, I should say we had 300 or 400, at least 95 per cent of whom own their own cutaway coats.

Ah, gentlemen, here is the head of the statistical department now, Mr. Binks, what are the official figures, please?

BINKS—The combined resources of the bank are now $4,816,788,000.

CHAIRMAN—That, gentlemen, I believe is the largest figure in the history of mathematics. Am I not right, Mr. Binks?

BINKS—Well, Mr. Chairman, it's not really the largest figure known. You see, a mosquito lays 2,500,000,000 eggs in a month. It is 475,000,000,000,000 miles from the earth to the planet Jupiter and there are at least 19,000,000,000,000,000 typhoid germs in a pint of stagnant water.

CHAIRMAN—(dejectedly)—Gentlemen, I'm afraid we'll just have to keep on plugging and merge some more.

What Society Is Wearing

MRS. IRA WARNER, JR. WEARS A FULL LENGTH WRAP WITH A LACE EVENING GOWN.

Typical of the new silhouette is the shimmering evening wrap worn by Mrs. Ira Warner Jr. of Southampton. The cape coat which follows the curves of the figure is short waisted and untrimmed hemline, terminating in a trailing length at the back in conformity with the accompanying gown.

Colored by a luxurious stole which is quite in harmony with the richness of the sheer tulle. Brocaded sandals of dazzling laces complete the gorgeous evening ensemble.

The length of the evening coat is a much mooted question. Some say long, others demand short ones. What the outcome will be no one knows. Suffice it to say that every length is possible and the short coat is ready to go into show as the most becoming type. This is the year for the individual woman.

Among the national executives attending the convention, are William M. Bushnell of the New York personnel department, Earl Ross of the real estate department, R. G. ## MURDER FILM ROLE PLEASURES POWELL

William Powell always speaks of his film characterizations in the third person.

He regards his roles as utterly detached from himself as if they were played by another actor.

For example in discussing his role of Philo Vance in "The Green Murder Case" which comes to the Fox-California theater for a two days' showing, Powell talks in this vein:

"Smooth fellow. Nice to be as intelligent as Vance, eh? But with all his smarts, sophisticated, cynical exterior he has a warm heart. He feels a real sympathy for those heretofore by the murders he so deftly solves. And though he chides Sergeant Heath a bit, he never turns the full force of his satirical wit on him. He really loves the old boy."

"Yes, you will like Phil Vance when you get to know him. We are great friends."

This detached manner is absolutely sincere with Powell. Those in the profession call him a "depth actor," because he never essays a role until he has studied every characteristic of the type.

In "The Green Murder Case," he did not have to prepare himself for the role, since he had established the character of Philo Vance in his first Van Dine film, "The Canary Murder Case."

Also on the same program is a Fox News and "A Close Shave" talking act.

Ross Services To Be Held This Morning

Driver Wrecks Tee, Pole, Plant

TOLEDO, O.—Marty Karow, at Ohio State or Herb Joesting at Minnesota or Ernie Nevers at Leland Stanford were fullbacks exceedingly hard to stop. But then so was Clyde Winterholder of Defiance when he "rammed around" East Toledo, recently.

Winterholder drove his car into a tree. The next obstacle was a telephone pole, which was broken. He backed up a four-foot terrace, wrecked a rubber plant, then smashed the front porch of a home.

Driving while intoxicated was the charge preferred against him when he was arraigned in police court.

Mrs. E. Edwards Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards will be held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Welch Presbyterian church, Eighteenth and Castro streets, Oakland. Mrs. Edwards, a resident of the West Side, was 77 years old. Rev. R. Williams will officiate and interment will be in Mountain View cemetery.

County C. E. To Meet Here For 1930 Conclave

Harry Wilkerson, of Richmond, was elected vice-president of the Contra Costa county Junior Christian Endeavor societies at the closing session of the convention held in Walnut Creek Sunday.

Richmond was selected as the site for the 1930 convention which will be held in September.

The local delegations took all El Cerrito troop No. 1 with honors for attendance, efficiency and the meeting.

This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone picture starring Al Jolson; Darryl Francis Zinnuck and Harvey Gates, Scenarioists.

Joe Lane, ex-prizefighter, song plugger, and his wife, Katherine, have one child, Little Pal, whom they both adore. Joe, believing Arthur Phillips, manager of the station, to be his best friend, has just accepted a big contract from him, not knowing that Phillips is in love with Katherine. The girl is furious, but fears to inform Joe that he quarrels with the manager. Joe, a careless, irresponsible person, always making engagements with Katherine and forgetting them. This day, however, Katherine becomes angry, threatening to leave him. Joe is packing and bidding Little Pal good-bye.

"What I couldn't be, Little Pal, I want you to be, Little Pal..."

Joe's voice was hoarse, thick in his throat.
"I'm putting my faith and my hopes all in you.
To do all the things that you're dad couldn't do.
I'll pray every night, Little Pal, That you turn out right, Little Pal..."

He squeezed the child closer, wallowing the lump that was fast rising in his throat. The tears spilled unheeded over his eyelids and ran down his cheeks. The words came faltering, broken. The baby's hands, clasped his neck, soft against his rougher skin.

"If some day you should be... on a new daddy's knee, Little Pal. Don't forget... about me... Little Pal..."

The song trailed off into silence, and choking sobs sounded heavily in the silent room.

CHAPTER V
Katherine's footsteps against the door were the first thing that came away the dialing of the dialing room. She had been as heavy as her heart, and she caught herself, time and again, standing, staring at a pile of silver and china, not knowing where she had meant to put it.

She tip-toed into the living room and over to the bedroom door. She paused, hesitated. The sound of Joe's voice crooning his song to Little Pal was wafted faintly to her ears. Quietly she opened the door, the fraction of an inch; paused again; then opened the door wider and stepped gently across the baby's bedroom to the one beyond. Peering round she could just see Joe with the child in his arms. She could hear his voice breaking as he sang.

"That is swell, Daddy." The baby's voice, clutched at her heart strings. Silently she turned away and went back to the living room. "Now let's go to bed." Joe settled the child more firmly in his arms and came out into the adjoining bedroom. "Good night, Little Pal." Tenderly he kissed the boy and laid him down on the bed, pulling the covers about him to the last time; touching the chubby, pink hands, the silky hair for the last time.

"What you crying for, Daddy?" Junior demanded.
"I'm not really crying," Joe assured the boy. "Daddy's only sorry because he has to go away and leave you and mother. And while Daddy's gone you must be good to mother." Joe admonished. "Because you've got the best mother in the world."
"Aw right, Daddy." Joe turned away quickly and went back to the other bedroom. Without even looking at them, he seized the clothes on the bed and hung them into the satchel and clicked the lock shut. He picked up the bag and started towards the living room.

and other awards. Other officers elected by the county organizations are Fred Ernest of Martinez, president; Josephine Randall of Martinez, secretary and Harry Clough of Martinez, treasurer.

4 Scout Troops To Attend Meet In Pittsburg

Four Richmond Boy Scout troops will meet Saturday at a rally and field day at Pittsburg, according to Robert F. Cox, Troops 4, 5, 8 and 10 and the El Cerrito troop No. 1 will attend the meeting.

This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone picture starring Al Jolson; Darryl Francis Zinnuck and Harvey Gates, Scenarioists.

Once there he paused, looking about as though to impress upon his mind the scene which he might never see again. Her back to him, Katherine stood beside the piano. He stretched out his hand to her impulsively and then let it drop back to his side.

"Will you—will you kiss me good-bye, dear," he asked faintly.

Katherine made no move to look around. Slowly Joe started for the outer door, groping for the knob. As it turned about in his hand, Katherine suddenly stood up straight and faced her husband.

"Oh, kiss me, darling, but not good-bye." Her voice was low, but not so low that Joe couldn't hear it.

"I don't understand," he faltered. "I've changed my mind, Joe." Katherine explained gently. "I've decided that after all we'd better stick together."

"Do you mean that," Joe gasped eagerly.

"Yes," Katherine nodded. The satchel dropped to the floor with a bang, and he was across the room and Katherine was in his arms.

"Aw, darling, that's the happiest words I ever heard in all my life!" Joe was kissing her again and again, now holding her close, now away from him that he might look at her. "And I'll make you glad you stuck to me. I'll cut out drinking and gambling and staying out at night. I'll never make you wait for me any more. I'll do everything just like you want me to do it. I'll show you I can make you happy."

"I hope you will, Joe," Kitty said softly. "I want more than anything else in the world for us to be happy."

"We're gonna be happy, all right, sweets," Joe assured her. "Why baby, I'm right on the crest of the wave now. I could do anything the way I feel. I'll write songs and sing songs that'll tear their hearts out. Oh, Kitty, this is the swellest moment of my life. Gee, you don't know what it made me feel like to hear you say you wanted me to go away. It just about broke my heart. I couldn't live without you and Little Pal."

The clatter of the telephone bell broke into his rhapsody. "Just a moment, Kitty," he announced playfully. "I'll be right with you."

He jumped to the telephone and picked up the receiver. "Come, come, it's your nicker," he shouted into the mouthpiece. "Oh, Mr. Phillips, he began after a pause. "Tell him I'll be right down." He hung up the receiver and turned to Katherine. "Art's downstairs with the car. He's gonna take me to the radio station."

Katherine hesitated, frowning. "Must you go with him," she asked sharply.

"Joe looked at his wife in astonishment. "Why, yes, dear, of course." "What the matter?" "Katherine paused before replying as though debating some question in her mind. "Then, I wish you could save away from Art Phillips," she answered.

SOUTH LASHED BY 80 MILE GALE

ing community, at nine p. m. reported a terrific storm already had demolished two homes and uprooted countless trees, but with no loss of life. Eufaula, Ala., 15 miles north of Criddle, reported a terrific rain had flooded streets there and that the wind rapidly approached hurricane force.

Meanwhile, southeastern Georgia, already harried by the worst floods in many years, watched falling barometers which promised a dismal rain if nothing more serious.

The barometer at Brunswick, Ga., fell 29 points in 12 hours today, but at 7:45 p. m. was steady at 29.50.

STORM TO PASS THROUGH SOUTH

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 30.—UP.—The barometer stood at 29.42 here at 9 p. m., a drop of 14 points since 9 a. m. This would indicate the hurricane which struck Pensacola, Fla., at 3 p. m. at last had assumed a normal course and would pass up through southern Georgia, the Carolinas, and northeastward along the Atlantic seaboard, weather observers said.

HURRICANE HELD MOVING NORTH

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 30.—UP.—Warned to prepare for gales of hurricane force, merchants busily boarding windows and protecting property were relieved tonight, it was reported, two point rise in barometric measures. The lowest mark was 28.45 registered late this afternoon.

Weather bureau observers said this indicated the hurricane was moving due north on the point where it crossed the Gulf coast line 12 miles east of Pensacola.

venue and will go to trial before Judge Charles Fricke Tuesday on charge of attacking 17-year old Eunice Fricke, a stage dancer who applied to him for work.

Pantages was also denied a day continuance because of asserted troubled mental condition caused by his wife's conviction.

New Trial Asked
Judge Hardy withheld sentence upon Mrs. Pantages when her lawyers moved for a new trial and asked more time to argue their motion. He set argument for Saturday morning.

Before granting the continuance, Judge Hardy called Dr. John V. Barrow to the witness stand and questioned the physician appointed by the court to observe Mrs. Pantages' condition.

Judge Hardy sought to determine whether he should send Mrs. Pantages to jail after she is sentenced and pending final outcome of her case.

"I think confinement would retard her recovery," Dr. Barrow said. "She would recover quicker if left free, I believe. If confined, no one can say what effect her mental condition would have on her."

Gradual Improvement
He said that Mrs. Pantages had shown gradual improvement prior to her appearance today.

She had been confined to her home since her conviction for the death of Juro Rokumoto, Japanese, in an automobile crash, and was brought into court today in a wheel chair.

Judge Fricke denied the motions for change of venue and continuance in the theater man's case after surprise moves by the defense, which called both Pantages and District Attorney Burton Pitts to the stand. The court ruled that the defense had failed to show any reason for transfer of the case to another county, but indicated that he would allow the defense to make the request if "an inflated public mind" was shown during selection of jurors.

Public Feeling
"Well, I think Mr. Pitts will stipulate that he has declared that public feeling has been aroused to such a pitch in this case that he could not afford to permit us to have any continuances in the trial of Mrs. Pantages," Defense Attorney Joe Ford said.

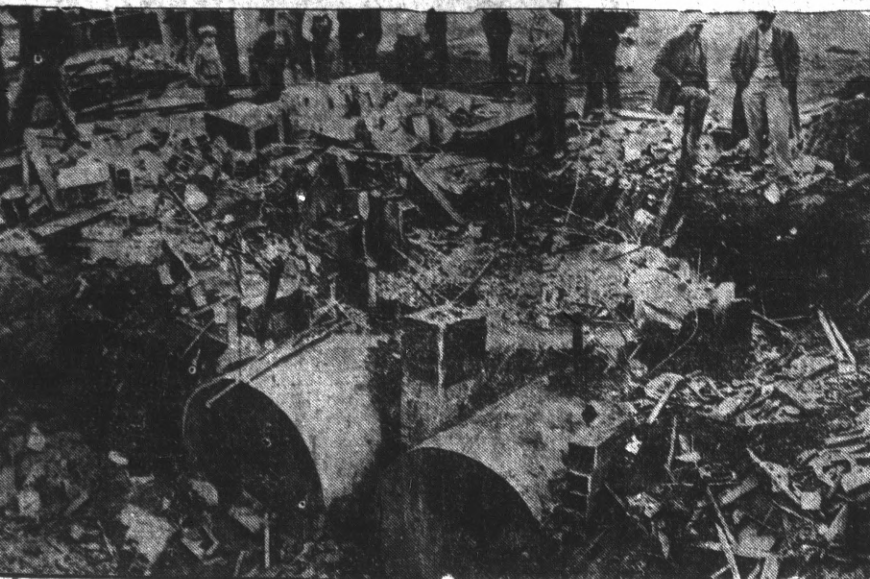

Pitts countered with a denial and Ford called him to the stand from where he denied he had given statements to newspapers in an effort to prejudice the public.

Pantages testified that he lost 20 pounds during his wife's trial, was extremely nervous and had lost his appetite although sympathetic. Judge Fricke would grant no continuance.

Three Killed In Oil Explosion

FLATTENE by explosion which killed three and injured one, ruins of gasoline and oil station at St. Ansarg, Ia., show how buried tanks were uncovered by blast. Cause of the explosion is a mystery.

ROCKET PLANE SUCCESSFUL CLAIM

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 30.—UP.—A snub nosed, motorless airplane which emitted clouds of smoke and mysteriously roared like a cannon, shot into the air near here today, streaked through the sky amid a spurt of flame and landed bumpily after a flight of about six miles.

An obviously dazed man—Fritz Von Opel—could be seen strapped to an asbestos covered seat in front of the plane, which rolled slowly to a stop. He had just completed the first flight in an airplane propelled by exploding rockets.

Von Opel, wealthy young German, made his flight with little advance publicity, but it is possible that his short trip through what appeared to be merely a dense cloud of smoke and flame will some day mark the first step in an entirely new phase of aviation history.

Flight Success
The flight was entirely successful, as Von Opel had merely hoped to prove that it is possible to fly an airplane by rocket power. Later he hopes to make a flight across the English channel and to greatly increase the range and use of what is now an experimental craft.

The successful flight was the third attempt made today. The first two efforts failed because the rockets did not explode in the proper order and some of them not at all.

The fore-shortened craft, resembling a motorless and propellerless glider, was placed on a special starting rail. The rockets were set off and it bounced across the field about 50 yards and stopped. The second attempt got the same result.

Three Attempts
On the third attempt the young experimenter was determined to succeed despite the fact that his hair had been singed by flame in the earlier efforts. He carefully prepared the plane and the rockets exploded properly, shooting it into the air from the starting rail.

An eye-witness of the flight said that he first heard a terrific noise which resembled heavy gunfire. Suddenly a broad streak of smoke shot across the air-drome and rose into the air. Still it was impossible to make out the dark patch at the front of the smoke cloud which resembled a small airplane spouting flame. It was about 80 yards above the ground.

Like Glider
The little craft came to a bumpy landing. The tail-end of the short-foretailage was examined and the protruding steel tubes which held the rockets were found to be red hot.

The rocket plane which Von Opel so strongly advocates is a monoplane much shorter but still similar to the gliders which have become so popular in Germany since the World war.

Von Opel's recent experiments have made the rocket idea extremely popular in Germany. He is an enthusiastic experimenter and previously tried out the rockets on an automobile-making several more or less successful experiments which aroused great interest.

SHEARER CHARGES KELLOGG CAUSE OF HIS DISMISSAL

000,000 growing out of war contracts."

Sensational Developments

This episode stood out in a day of sensational developments, with Shearer, sleek-haired and bulky, stepping back into his former role of actor and producing, in a stuffy committee room before an enthralled audience of senators and open-mouthed spectators, a drama of personal experience that brought out a melodramatic thriller.

He likewise brought into the show, somewhat to their embarrassment, members of the investigating naval sub-committee, as well as prominent international figures. He banded about the names of prominent personages with easy familiarity.

When the curtain was rung down, these developments stood out in sharp outline:

Denies Charges

Denial that he ever had claimed he had broken up the Geneva conference with insistence he had gone there to protect the American navy, his agreement with shipbuilders being to secure war-denial of charges contained in a Scotland Yard dossier, which he turned over to the committee, the man they wanted to hear, he was said to have stolen 737 pounds from a German patron of the day leading on the table and jewels from the Princess of Monaco from the senators. Fro-he was a "friend of notorious crooks," and that he was a spy. Admission, after much questioning, that he had been arrested in 1920 at New Rochelle, New York, in connection with a liquor charge with "about 60 other people" and had forfeited $500 bond because he did not want his family and friends to know about it.

Denial that he ever had any contact with American naval officers at the Geneva conference, as previously testified.

Hits Senator

Insistence that he had been hired by the shipbuilders for a period of years, instead of merely for the Geneva conference.

The statement he had made a campaign speech for "the G. O. P.," defending Herbert Hoover against President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, whom he called a "Pacifist" for which he said he had been engaged by Senator Allen, Rep. Kansas, a member of the investigating sub-committee.

A charge that Senator King, Dem., Utah, has told him he would be "framed" by a naval sub-committee, which King denied, saying he had merely told Shearer he did not think he was the man they wanted to hear.

The "naval expert," sat through 737 pounds from a German patron of the day leading on the table and jewels from the Princess of Monaco from the senators. Fro-Thurn and Taxis at Ostend, that gently, he flared up, accusing the senators of convicting him in the press. He had to be stopped frequently when he rambled on in the attitude of a lecturer, regarding American naval needs.

He did not finish his testimony today, but will appear again Tuesday.

Shearer amused the spectators when he told of a conference he had in the office here of Senator Shortridge, Rep., Calif., chairman of the sub-committee, a few years ago, when Shortridge had approved his stand on Japanese exclusion and American naval supremacy.

The crowd which packed the small committee room laughed frequently during an interchange between the "naval expert" and the tall, solemn faced California senator, regarding their common experiences as actors, both saying they had appeared but once, Shearer in "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," and that there had been no demand for return engagements.

Skilfully, Shearer referred to mutual California friends of himself and Shortridge, and kept coming back to his Boston speech for the Republican National committee, expenses for which, he testified, had come from a fund of the shipbuilders. He pictured himself, throughout, as a friend of the American navy, and insisted he stood squarely behind the American delegation at Geneva.

Shearer told how he had secured the Scotland Yard dossier from Albin Johnson, correspondent of the New York World, in an early morning visit to the correspondent at Geneva. He did not obtain it by force, he said. He called Johnson a "British stool pigeon."

Horses Do Not Climb Trees! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Anger and fear greeted the faltering efforts of the first automobile. But the hands of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE guided the steering wheel and controlled the throttle—the automobile drove on to glorious success.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

Donnie Bush To Manage White Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—UP—Donnie Bush is Art Shires' new boss.

The former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates signed a contract today to manage the Chicago White Sox in 1930 and 1931. He is succeeding Lena Blackburne, whose frequent clashes with Shires, scatty Chicago first baseman, precipitated his downfall.

Bush, who recently resigned as leader of the Pirates, has served almost four seasons as a major league manager and his clubs have never finished out of first division.

He managed Washington in 1923, piloting the Senators to fourth place. He was replaced by Bucky Harris the next season. After managing the Indianapolis American association club for several seasons, Bush was made manager of the Pirates in 1927. Pittsburgh won the pennant that year, but lost the World Series to the Yankees in four straight games. The Pirates finished fourth under Bush last year and were in second place this year.

The appointment of Bush still leaves two American league clubs and possibly three without managers for next season.

Yanks Leadership
Miller Huggins' death has left the Yanks without a leader and Dan Howley plans to resign as manager of the St. Louis Browns at the close of the season. Bill Carroll manager of the Boston Red Sox, may not retain his post.

Bob Conner, president of the St. Paul American association club, has been prominently mentioned as Huggins' successor.

Marty Berghammer, American association manager, is said to be in line for Howley's job.

No other changes are likely in the American league unless Walter Johnson steps down at Washington which is improbable as his contract has another year to run.

Roger Peckinpah recently signed a contract at $25,000 a year to continue as manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Changes Seen
Two National league clubs, and probably three, are due to make changes in managers. Jack Hendricks' resignation leaves Cincinnati without a manager and Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, is looking for a new leader. Uncle Wilbert Robinson may not remain at the helm of the Brooklyn Robins.

Clarence (Pants) Rowland, manager of the Nashville Southern league club, is said to have the inside track for the Reds position. Rabbit Maranville may manage the Braves if he is given a two-year contract and his price. Dan Howley also has been mentioned in connection with the Braves' job.

The Pittsburgh agency has been filled by Jewel Ends, former coach who has signed to lead the Pirates in 1930.

COAST LEAGUE RACE ENDS SUNDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (UP)—The Pacific Coast league comes to a close next Sunday and games to be played here this week will probably determine whether a play-off series for the title will be necessary.

The Missions, winners of the first half of the season, will have the weak Seattle club for opposition while the Hollywood Shakes, who are leading the league by two games, will meet the fourth place Portland Beavers.

Provided the Missions beat Seattle in all seven games, Hollywood must take six from Portland to win the second half and meet the Missions in a play-off for the title.

Los Angeles' Angels, who are in third place, one game behind the Missions, will meet Oakland and San Francisco's Seals will play at Sacramento.

Richmond Elks Nine Leading North League

By defeating the Oakland Elks 6 to 2 Sunday, the Richmond Elks nine retained their position of leadership of Northern California Elks. The locals easily head the Oakland lodge in Sunday's game, and are now fairly certain of a berth in the finals of the league. However, Alameda remained even with the locals by defeating San Francisco 6 to 5.

As a result of Sunday's victories, Richmond and Alameda will meet next Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at Lincoln Park in Alameda. Richmond is one game in advance of the Alamedans, but the title for 1929 is still very much in the balance.

Fans think that Richmond will have no difficulty in handling the Alameda team. The locals have defeated Alameda twice, and carried off one pre-season contest. Richmond's two losses were administered by San Francisco. The Sunday game will probably decide who is to receive the cup.

SOCCER TEAM DELAYS GAME

The game scheduled to be played Sunday between the Richmond soccer club and the Golden Gate Merchants was postponed until next Sunday. The contest will be played at Nichol park.

This will be the first game of the Eastbay Junior soccer league to be played at Richmond this season. There is some promising material on the local squad, and they are expected to make a worthy showing Sunday.

The lineup for Richmond will probably be: Myers, goal; Jester, rb; Brocco, lb; Baker, rf; Lems, ch; Freese, lf; Greer, cf; Fewins, jr; Brain, cf; Rudy, lf; Hood, ol; Urquhart, substitute.

Miller Huggins Funeral Held

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30 (UP)—With only members of the immediate family and a few close friends present, Miller Huggins, former manager of the New York Yankees, was buried today.

Those at the Spring Grove cemetery when the body was lowered into the grave included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huggins, brother and sister-in-law; Miss Matilda Reid, aunt; Myrtle Huggins, sister; Clarence Huggins, brother; Herb Pennock, Charles O'Leary, Charles McManis, George Perry, Morris Isaacs, Ernie Wihl, Horton Shedd, Misses Alice and Edna Vosmer and a few others.

Local I. O. O. F. Baseball Nine Earns Dinner

As a result of beating the Crockett Encampment baseball team by a score of seven to three Sunday, the Contra Costa Encampment of Odd Fellows of Richmond will be guests of the Crockett encampment at a chicken dinner. The dinner is the price the losing camp must pay for its defeat.

A coincidence of the game was the fact that two sets of brothers made up the batteries for both teams. Leonard Orr pitched for the locals while Wesley Orr received his offering. While for Crockett, H. Humphreys and C. Humphreys formed the batter.

THOMAS NINE WINS ANOTHER

Thomas Motors came home to Richmond Sunday with one more victory to their credit, having defeated the Tracy nine 6 to 1 at the valley town.

Bill Campana pitched a fine game for the locals, allowing only four hits. The Motors were better than usual on the hitting end of the game. Figueroa got a homer and a single, and Kelly created two triples. Felker, one of the leading state league hurlers of the past season, was in the box for Tracy, but his ball was an easy mark for the local sluggers.

A's Favored To Take World Flag

LOCAL NIMRODS OPEN DUCK SEASON

The subject of discussions at the corner pool room and cigar stands is not about California's chances of beating St. Marys, nor of the chances of the A's of coping the World Series.

Instead it is a much weightier subject, a subject that is discussed with solemn mien, much argument about the weather, guns and boats.

In other words, Richmond nimrods are preparing for the duck season, which opens today.

Whereas the farmer hopes for rain to benefit his crops, the mighty duck hunters are hoping that the rain will bring a good luck season.

The lack of rain is one factor that will make shooting of a record bag today something to be boasted of. An increasing number of ducks have been reported. Rain would bring the fowls down from the north to the California marshes.

A number of duck hunters in this vicinity have been complaining of the "sooners" who have anticipated the season by several days and have been shooting both day and night on the duck areas. These reports are being checked by game officials.

OAKLAND MAN SHOOT WINNER

Jack Becker of Oakland won first honors at the El Cerrito Fish and Game club's trapshoot Sunday at the Stauffer Chemical company's grounds.

Shooting at 25 pigeons in three events, Becker scored 22, 21, and 22. Ed Wozner of El Cerrito was second with 20, 22, and 23. Other results were as follows: Dr. L. Carpenter, 18, 19 and 17; R. B. Douglas, 22, 20 and 18; Carlo Fara, 19, 17, and 9; W. P. Kelley, 20, 21 and 18; and G. Olsen, 18, and 9.

Corey Garage Nine Defeats Oakland Team

The Earl Corey garage nine continued their winning streak on Sunday when they defeated the strong Leader Market club of Oakland, 4 to 3. Cabral hurled in fine style for the locals, striking out 11 men and allowing only five hits.

The score stood 3 to 1 in favor of the Oakland team in the eighth inning. Rosano then hit a triple with two men on base. With the bases loaded in the ninth, Viano brought in the run that decided the game.

SUSPECT WILL FACE RODEO WITNESSES

went to Twentieth street and San Pablo avenue on a tip that an automobile thief was in the vicinity, a tip that was in no way connected with the morning robbery.

They approached Dacosta, attracted by a suspicious bulge in his hip pocket. The bulge, they discovered, was caused by $2000. Dacosta's share in the bank loot according to his own admission.

The youth talked freely of the holdup but refused to reveal the identity of his companions. He told a story of meeting a man on the street who "invited" him to share in the bank job.

According to Dacosta's alleged confession, he and his two companions began operations at dawn. While one remained as lookout in a car parked across the street, the others entered an unoccupied store adjoining the bank.

With a crowbar they backed a hole through the intervening wall, squirmed through the narrow passageway and dropped in to the bank, Dacosta said.

Janitors Held
At nine o'clock the janitorial force arrived. Peter Fiora, Peter Dodigo and John Paganino, the bandits, hidden behind the vaults, leaped at them, covered them and held them prisoners.

With one member of the gang acting as guard over their prisoners, the others waited for the other bank employees.

John Hannan, bookkeeper and W. G. Day, assistant manager, arrived together.

At the point of a gun they were forced to open up the vaults. The two men scooped up $7000 in currency and $2000 in travelers' checks and negotiable coupons.

Loot Split
They then forced Fiora and Codigo to surrender keys of their automobile standing at the curb. Leisurely they strolled to the cars, climbed in and drove away.

Less than two blocks from the bank, they abandoned their car and met the third man of the band and went to downtown Oakland where they parked their car and split the loot, then separating.

Youth Hurt In Cycle Crash

ANTIOCH, Sept. 30.—Horace Rafts, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rafts of Oakley, and a student at Antioch high school, was seriously injured yesterday morning when the motorcycle which he was riding got out of control and crashed against the porch of Floyd Wilson's home.

Rafts was traveling at a high rate of speed when the cycle left the road, plunged 100 feet through the yard and ended up against the porch, damaging it badly.

Rafts' right shoulder was dislocated, his leg badly cut, his body lacerated and bruised, and it is possible that he may be injured internally.

He was treated by Dr. L. B. Weatherbee and later removed to his home.

LAW SCHOOL TO OFFER FREE COUNSEL

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24 (U.P.)—Free legal assistance for those in difficulty and in need of aid without the means of employing a lawyer will be the aim of the new Legal Aid Clinic of the school of law of the University of Southern California which opened September 16.

John S. Bradway of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Ass'n of Legal Aid Organizations will direct the clinic.

The only difference between the clinic and the other law offices will be the volume of business and the fact that no bills will be sent out. According to Bradway, perhaps 20 per cent of the cases will involve conciliation—getting both parties together at the clinic and settling the dispute without litigation. The balance, he said, will probably require court action, petitions and motions or actual trial work.

National Bank System Hit At Meet

whose address Wednesday is very anxiously awaited.

"Mergers in the banking field are necessary developments, but they have evolved faster than controlling legislation has been able to keep up with them," the Washington official said.

"The holding company and the chain bank group is almost immune from banking laws. Banking must concern itself with the depositors as well as with national and international phases."

John W. Barton of Minneapolis was elected president of the National bank division this afternoon and Edgar Wolfe of Bridgeport, Conn., was chosen vice-president.

Milk Producers Of Bay Region Form Combine

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—UP—Milk producers of San Mateo, Marin, Alameda, Santa Clara, Napa, and Contra Costa counties, supplying the San Francisco market, were banded together today as the Co-operative Milk Producers' association of San Francisco to secure a higher price in 1930 for their product.

Price cutting to restaurants and grocery stores was blamed by W. P. Caubau, attorney for the organization, for the producers receiving an average price of 23 cents a gallon, about 5 cents a gallon less than received prior to 1928.

Caubau said that distributors agreed that cessation of price cutting would restore the balance to the producers' without any increase of price in milk delivered to householders.

PINOLE, Sept. 30.—A reception which was to have been tendered to Rev. J. R. Rudkin on the eve of his fourth year as pastor of the Community Methodist church has been postponed due to the death of Constable Arthur McDonald in the Rodeo bank holdup. The program will probably be given in a few weeks.

Light-O-Matic New Feature Of Edison Radios

Thomas A. Edison, the wizard of electricity has presented to the world one of the most modern radio receiving sets in existence, according to T. Iversen of Iversen's Radio shop at 927 Macdonald avenue.

"Light-O-Matic" tuning is a feature of the new set. This is believed to be one of the most modern features on any radio set.

This new process removes all guess work from tuning in a radio station, according to Iversen. Turn the dial of the new set and when a station is reached, a red light flashes. The name of the station can be written in on a space opposite the station number, thus doing away with radio logs.

The new radio comes in a radio-phonograph combination, equipped to play any record using the powerful dynamic speaker for reproduction, or in a simple radio combination.

The dynamic speaker gives tonal qualities that challenge the performance of living crescendos, without distortion, the manufacturers claim.

A new circuit is employed, using five 227 tubes, two 245 power tubes in a push-pull arrangement and a 250 type tube.

SMOOTH SAILING NOW!

It will soon be smooth sailing to the inner harbor. This week will see completion of the paving of Tenth street, so that an automobile may roll from the central business district of Richmond to the Ford site and the Parr-Richmond inner harbor terminal in something like five minutes.

Many hundreds of automobiles will make this pleasant and comfortable trip on October 12, the date of the celebration dedicating Richmond's newest shipping facility.

Completion of the Tenth street paving is significant in many ways. It marks one more step in carrying out the big program of development that was launched three years ago when improvement of the inner harbor area was first undertaken.

It means that one more detail of the agreement with the Ford Motor company has been carried out.

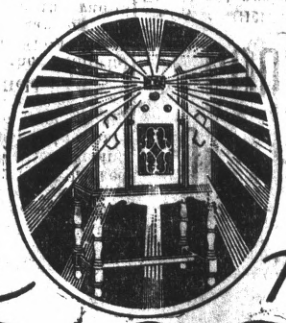

It means that any industry seeking a location in the inner harbor industrial zone can now be assured of a first class street connection.

And Tenth street leads farther than merely to the inner harbor. It is another of those links between Richmond and the great commercial and industrial future which is hers by right, and which the Chamber of Commerce is doing its bit to bring about.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.
